Arrow bolsters team in Germany with two new hires

Arrow Capital Partners, the specialist investor, developer and manager of real estate in Europe and Asia-Pacific, has boosted its team in Germany with two new appointments in the Düsseldorf office.

Tim Hamacher joins as Development Manager to support recent growth in the logistics development side of the business. He will be responsible for logistics development due diligence and overseeing Arrow's project managers across Germany. He joins from Frasers Property Industrial, where he spent four years as a logistics project manager.

Jerome Fröhlich joins as an Investment Analyst to support the broader acquisitions team on all aspects of the transaction process including research and due diligence. Previously, he was a senior valuation and transaction advisory consultant at JLL, based in Germany.

Commenting on the appointments, Danilo Hunker, Head of Germany at Arrow Capital Partners, said: "Both Tim and Jerome join as we expand our urban logistics development and acquisition activity across the country. In Germany, we're targeting a further €500 million of logistics developments over the next three years, building on the current European development pipeline of €1billion for our SIRE urban logistics joint venture with Cerberus."

Armen Gevorkian, Senior Investment Manager at Arrow Capital Partners, added: "We're active in the market looking for suitable land acquisition opportunities and existing assets with the potential to develop into urban logistics hubs servicing large metropolitan areas."

As a specialist real estate investor, developer and manager, Arrow Capital Partners targets equity and debt opportunities, specialising in cross-border transactions where it can use its platform and balance sheet to invest with US and Asia-Pacific investors into Europe, as well as European and US investors into the Asia-Pacific region.
